Who we are

COSPE is a non-profit association promoting international cooperation, operating in Italy and 25 other countries in Europe, Africa, the Mediterranean and Latin America. COSPE is committed to the transition towards a world of peace, with more rights, more social and environmental justice, under the banner of gender equality, where diversity is recognised as the most precious asset.

Mission

We promote dialogue between individuals and communities, for a world where peace reigns, human rights are respected, democracy rules, and social justice and environmental sustainability are promoted. We aim to attain gender equality, women’s rights and eliminate all kinds of discrimination.

Vision

We work for a world of many voices where diversity is highly valued, where meeting and exchanging with others enriches all. A world where people can live in dignity with equal rights, opportunities, access to basic goods and services offered by nature, society and economic development.
Our activities, in line with the most recent European and international guidelines on development cooperation, follow a rights-based approach. We believe that to bring about lasting change, every initiative should not only be sustainable and improve people’s quality of life but must also help guarantee full enjoyment of fundamental rights recognised by law. Promoting the full exercise of human rights is the overarching objective of our projects at every stage, from planning to the monitoring of results, and in all areas of our intervention in Italy and abroad.

Our challenges

WOMEN AND DEMOCRACY: We work for the promotion of women’s rights, gender equality and more broadly for the democratic and participatory renewal of forms of government and power management.

MIGRATIONS: We fight against discrimination, but also and above all for the political, social and economic inclusion of migrants. We believe in building open, inclusive, and multi-cultural societies, capable of making the most of their diversity.

ENVIRONMENT AND NEW ECONOMIES: we are committed to giving the earth back its centrality, to changing the way we produce and consume food, putting the health of eco-systems, local economies and people first.

Human rights at the centre of our challenges

Our activities, in line with the most recent European and international guidelines on development cooperation, follow a rights-based approach. We believe that to bring about lasting change, every initiative should not only be sustainable and improve people’s quality of life but must also help guarantee full enjoyment of fundamental rights recognised by law. Promoting the full exercise of human rights is the overarching objective of our projects at every stage, from planning to the monitoring of results, and in all areas of our intervention in Italy and abroad.

Gender inequalities are the oldest and among the most odious and pervasive forms of inequality in all countries of the world. True democracy will be accomplished only when women are fully involved in decision-making, both within their family and their society, and when LGBTQI rights are respected. That is why we support the creation and growth of women's associations everywhere, the development of their economic and social autonomy and their political prominence. At the same time, we promote the expansion of spaces for participation in public and democratic life for people at risk of exclusion, as well as for the promotion of Human Rights and the support of activists who defend them. Finally, we stand with children and their families in order to offer them equal access to school and to extracurricular cultural and recreational services, believing that social exclusion and inequalities must be overcome through the fight against educational poverty.

We want to encourage the exercise of fundamental personal rights and freedom of association by overcoming inequalities, especially gender inequalities, and rebalancing the instruments of governance and spaces of power in a democratic sense.

Migrations

Our ultimate goal is to contribute to building open, inclusive, and multi-cultural societies that understand the value of diversity.

We are living in a world of increasing voluntary and forced migration, which is new in terms of type, size and diffusion. This phenomenon puts at risk not only the lives of the millions of people travelling, but also our ability to see “the other” as a person rather than a threat. For us, the answer to this epochal challenge is to globalise human rights and to take action in order to guarantee them to migrants vis-à-vis their countries of origin, transit and arrival.

COUNTERING HATE SPEECH IN THE MEDIA

- Data dissemination and monitoring to boost a more correct representation of global migratory phenomena

- Training young people and communities on hate speech
- Promoting self-representation and diversity in the media

Environment and fight against desertification

The intertwining of climate change and increasing inequalities, in a world that has seen its population triple in a few decades, puts at great risk the stability of ecosystems and the right to a dignified life for a growing number of people. Our response to this global challenge is an ecological transformation of the economy and lifestyles, of relations between genders and with nature. Centred on social and solidarity economy networks, building a market that is an instrument of balanced and equal development.
